PREFACE

This book is written with a view to helping pupils reading in M.E. Schools in order that they may be able to write and speak English correctly. The book starts from a long list of nouns and develops gradually to framing a series of sentences and showing the relation and correction of word to word in a sentence.

The book is written primarily for pupils who prepare for the M.E. Scholarship and Leaving Certificate Examination, but it can be of great help to pupil of class IV and V, if teachers who use the book pick up relevant portions suitable to pupils of the above classes. Teacher are requested not confine to sentences already given in the book, but to supply more sentences of similar nature. By way of constant illustrations and drilling pupils are bound to get used to structural form of sentences and learn grammar without tears.

When to initiate English Grammar ?

Introduce the book to pupils of class IV in the month of June provided the school session starts in the second week of February. By that time the pupils have gathered a certain number of English words and phrases. Now it is the turn of the teacher of Grammar who is to lead pupils by and by how to use those words, they learnt from the teachers of English, grammatically in writing and speaking. The teachers of English Grammar are to bear in mind that no new English words are to be included in the teaching of Grammar. Please remember-“Language came before Grammar as the hen comes before your breakfast eggs”. The book is only a guide which does not restrict teachers and pupils to pass over words or lessons which are not suitable to the class which the pupils are presently in. By the time the pupils are in class VI, they are to know all lessons contained in the book thoroughly.

Question on Khasi M.E. Scholarship and Leaving Certificate Examinations for the years 1979 -88 are given at the end of the book. One may not find exact answers to question set, but one is able to answer them with case and under standing simply by way of substitutions.

One may ask me, “Why do you write the book?” I made an attempt to do some thing after I had seen poor performance of your boys and girls in their class rooms as found in course of my school inspection and in their answer scripts in the external examinations. Their composition of English betrays lack of understanding in fundamental of Grammar and reflects poor teaching in schools. It is, there-fore, my humble attempt to lead pupils and teachers alike how to approach and tackle the subject in a lucid and easy way. The book is planned in such a way as to present techniques to the young learners an easy and pratical course.

I shall be happy to find the book of use to laymen and people in general who are interested. Whoever read it is welcome to make suggestions for its improvement.

Reported Speech

A reported speech has two parts :-

1) Direct report 2) Indirect report

Direct report giving the same words of the speaker.

Indirect report giving the meaning of the words used by the speaker

|                  |                        |   |          |
|------------------|------------------------|---|----------|
| 1. Eg. John says | " The woman is died "  | — | Direct   |
| " "              | that woman is dead     | — | Indirect |
| " "              | " I am wrong "         | — | Direct   |
| " "              | " that he is wrong "   | — | Indirect |
| " "              | " I was wrong "        | — | Direct   |
| " "              | " that he was wrong "  | — | Indirect |
| John will say    | " I was wrong "        | — | Direct   |
| " "              | " that he was wrong. " | — | Indirect |

John uses the verbs "say" "will say" (Present and Future Tense) when he introduces the reported speech. So the tense of the verbs in the reported speech does not change.

2. John said "I am right" — Direct .
     "    " "that he was right" — Indirect
 John said "He has left" — Direct
     "    " "that he had left" — Indirect
 John said "He will leave" — Direct
     "    " "that he would leave" — Indirect

John uses the Past tense of the verb when he introduce the reported speech, the tense of the verb in the reported speech must correspond to it.

3. John says, "The earth is one of the planets" — Direct
     John says "that the earth is one of the planets" — Indirect

The Tense of the verb in the reported speech does not change when it is a universal fact (Ka jingshisha ha ka pyrthei salonsar).

4. Direct

Indirect

|                              |                                 |
|------------------------------|---------------------------------|
| He said                      | He said that                    |
| I work at home               | He worked at home               |
| I shall or will work at home | He should or would work at home |
| I am working at home         | He was working at home          |

- |                              |                              |
|------------------------------|------------------------------|
| (A) I work at home           | He had worked at home        |
| I have worked at home        | He had worked at home        |
| (B) I was working at home.   | He had been working at home. |
| I have been working at home. | He had been working at home. |
| I had been working at home.  | He had been working at home. |

Lesson – 28

Parsing

Parsing means naming the Parts of Speech and showing their relation to other words in the sentence.

A sentence has two part – Subject and Predicate. Let us proceed from nouns and pronouns which are in the Subject. If the Subject is the doers (nongleh), we know at once that it is in the nominative case.

How do you know that a particular word is in the Nominative case? You are to ask – “who and what”.

Example –

1. Boys sang. Who sang? The boys.
2. Lily went to Mairang. Who went? Lily.
3. The Shillong Barabazar is full of people. What is full? The Shillong Bara bazar.
4. Soldiers killed people. Who killed? Soldiers.
5. The cup was broken by Sita.
What was broken? The cup.

NOUNS

Parse the words in bold letters:—

(a) The man killed the snake.

(b) The girls can swim.

Man — Common noun, Singular Number, Masculine gender, Nominative case to the verb killed.

Transitive Verb

We have already known verbs and got a long list of them. We cannot make a single sentence without a verb. Verbs are either Transitive or Intransitive.

(1) A Transitive verb shows an action passing from the doer to an object: as

1. She eats mangoes.
2. He kills a bird.

So a Transitive verb has an object after it.

(2) An Intransitive verb does not take an object after it; as

1. He smiles.
2. He laughs.
3. He walks.

Kinds of Mood

(1) When the verb states a fact or asks a question, it is said to be in the Indicative mood.

1. I see a tiger.
2. A tiger is seen by me.
3. Have you seen a tiger?

(2) When the verb expresses a command or entreaty, (kaba hukum ne kyrpad) it is said to be in the Imperative Mood.

1. Go away.
2. Excuse me.
3. Please give me a pencil.

(3) When the verb expresses supposition, a wish or doubt, it is said to be in the Subjunction (kaba tharai, kaba kyrpad, kaba artatien)! If he comes. I will go.

Verbs

We may parse the verb bark. Dogs bark.

Bark – Verb Intransitive, 3rd Person, Plural Number, Present Tense, Indicative mood, Active Voice, agreeing with its subject dogs.

How to analyse

1st step - Divide the sentence into two heads -

Subject and Predicate:—

1. Experience has taught us many lessons.
2. The judge ordered the thief to be punished.
3. Small fine frogs made me laugh.

| Subject                                       | Predicate                                                                  |
|------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1. Experience2. The judge3. Small fine frogs | has taught us many lesson.ordered the thief to be punished.made me laugh. |

2nd step - Divide the subject into two sub heads - subject word and enlargement of subject.

| SUBJECT             |                               | PREDICATE                         |
|---------------------|-------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| Subject Word | Enlargement of subject |                                   |
| 1. Experience       |                               | has taught us many lessons.       |
| 2. Judge            | the                           | ordered the thief to be punished. |
| 3. Frogs            | small, fine                   | made me laugh.                    |

3rd step – Make five sub-heads under the Predicate

| SUBJECT       |                             |            | PREDICATE      |                 |                        |           |
|---------------|-----------------------------|------------|----------------|-----------------|------------------------|-----------|
| Subject Word  | Enlargement of subject word | Verb       | Complement     | Object          | Enlargement of subject | Extension |
| 1. Experience |                             | has taught |                | us              | many                   |           |
| 2. Judge      | the                         | ordered    | to be punished | less-sons thief | the                    |           |
| 3. Frogs      | small, fine                 | made       | laugh          | me              |                        |           |

We have purposely shown you the three steps so that you can clearly see how sentences are analysed. As a matter of fact, you are not required to show all the three steps but only the third step having the tabular form when you are asked to analyse.

The Ant

The ant is very small insect. It has six legs. Its body is thin in the middle. The front part is its head. The middle parts is its chest. The hind part is its abdomen.

There are many kinds of ants. Some are big, Some are small, Some are white, Some are red, Some are black.

Ants are found every where in the world. They live in our houses. They also live in field, jungles and hills. They make nest everywhere even in trees. Thousands of ants live in one nest.

Ants are fond of sweets. They eat dead or rotten things. They know where sweet are. They have a sense of smell.

Ants are of three kinds. There are male ants. There are female ants. There are worker ants. Worker ants are neither males nor females. Male ants are lazy. Female ants lay eggs. Worker ants do all the works.

Ants have a habit of hoarding. They carry food and store in for bad days. They are strong. They can carry things which are heavier than themselves.

Ants do us no harm. They bite us when they get angry. They are famous for their unity. They work hard. We are often asked to take lesson from ants for hard work.

Ants are not useful to us. They give us trouble. They come into vessels containing food, It is very difficult to guard food against ants.

Still we learn lesson from them like a lesson of hard work, a lesson of unity, a lesson of fellow-feeling and a lesson of using time properly. Let us remember them in our live.

The Rhinoceros

The rhinoceros is a wild animal. It has four legs. Its legs are strong and short. Its head is large. Its eyes and ears are very sharp. Its hoofs are like those of the cow. But that of the rhinoceros are divided into three parts.

The rhinoceros has a very thick and rough skin. The rhinoceros has got a horn in front of its head. Some have two horns. The rhinoceros has got a short tail too.

The rhinoceros is found in Africa, India and Java. In Assam it is found in Kaziranga. The Rhinoceros is not found in the world in large number. The Government of Assam are, therefore, protecting and preserving them in forest of Kaziranga. Kaziranga is a place that we must see them and other animals in their wild habitations. We enjoy seeing animals safely on the back of elephants.

The rhinoceros live on grass. It also eats leaves of trees, plants and vegetables. It does not take fish or flesh.

It like muddy place. It has a strong sense of smell. It can know the presence of a thing from a distance. Its ears are keen. It can hear a sound from a long distance.

The mother - rhino gives birth to young ones at intervals of years. The rhinoceros lives for about eight years. It use its horns when it attacks men or animals.

The rhinoceros is very valuable. Assam earns money by selling Rhinos. Different countries of the world buy them every year. Its skin is made into shields. Shields made out of its skin protect us from bullets and swords. bullets cannot go through the skin. Its horns are made into cups, pots and toys.

Assam is proud of its rhinos. The rhinoceros is the states emblem of the state of Assam. Let us help the Government in its efforts to protect the rhinoceros.

Mahatma Gandhi

Mahatma Gandhi is the father of the nation. The whole world respected him.

He was born at Porbandar on the 2nd day of October 1869. His father was the Dewan of the state. His name was Kaba Gandhi. Mahatma Gandhi's mother was Putali Bai. Both his father and his mother were very good, pious and virtuous.

The full name of Mahatma Gandhi was Mohondas Karamchand Gandhi. He first read in the Primary School and the Middle School at Porbandar. Then he joined the High School at Rajkot. After that he entered the Shyamaldas College at Bhanbangar. He then went to England. He came back from England as a Barister. Before he left for England he took the vow of obeying all the rules his parent wanted him to obey.

On return from England as a barister he started practising at the Bombay Bar. He then went to South Africa to conduct an important case of an Indian merchant there.

It is in South Africa that Gandhiji started his public activities. Indians in Africa were badly treated. South Africa is notorious for its colour prejudice. Gandhiji took up the cause, protested against the bad practice and courted arrest. To a large extent he succeeded in seeking redress for the people.

Gandhiji came back to India in 1915 and started as Ashram in Ahmedabad. India found in Gandhiji what she wanted as a leader. Gandhiji helped the British in the first great war on an assurance of more power to the Indian people after the war. The British opposed the people after the war. They made the terrible incident of Jalianwalabag.

Gandhi started several movements for freeing our country. The movement were Non-Co-operation Movement of 1921. Civil Disobedience Movement of 1930 and Quit India Movement of 1942. People suffered with Gandhiji.

At last with the change of Government in Britain the new Government realised that a free and friendly India would be as much better thing than a desendent and dissatisfied India. We thank Gandhiji, because it is through him that we are free now. Gandhi was not at all happy over a division of the land into India and Pakistan.

The division of the country was follow by furious communal disturbance in the Punjab and in East Bengal. Gandhiji ran from place to place with the message of love. Some Hindus did not like his activity. One man named Nathuram God say shot him to death in a prayer meeting at Delhi on January 30th, 1949.

Gandhiji is death : long live Gandhiji.

The Potato

The potato is a very common food. The rich and the poor eat potatoes.

It is a small plant twelve to eighteen inches high. Its leaves are deep green. The plant grows above the ground. Potatoes grow under neath.

Potato plants grow from good seed potatoes. They are planted in rows in carefully prepared soil. From each eye in the potato plants grow. It takes about sixty to ninety days for their full growth. Potatoes are dug out when the plants whither and fade. Each plants produces a number of potatoes. Dirt is removed from the potatoes before they are sold in market.

Potatoes grow well in the hills and in the plains. Potatoes grown in the hills are better than those in the plains. In the hills they are planted in April May and harvested in July August every year. In the plains they are planted in November and harvested in February.

Various dishes are prepared from potatoes. They are boiled. They are fried. They are cooked as curry along with other vegetables.

Potato is full of starch. The poor take potatoes as a substitute for rice. Spirits are also made of potatoes.

Behdienkhlam

Behdienkhlam is the biggest religious festival in the Jaintia Hills District. It is celebrated at Jowai and in some other places of the District, annually in the middle part of July for three days continously. The idea of the festival is to drive away all evils that plague the human life.

Before the commencement of the festival at Jowai two great ceremonies are performed. They are known as "Knia khang" and "Knia pyrthat". The different localities of the town called "Dongs" start constructing their "Rot" (Like tazias of the Muslim in the Muharram). The Dongs send out a group of people to fell a tree called Dienkhlam". The tree should be tall and straight. One particular Dongs called "Khon Raid" is to fell another tree called "Khnonng". The khnonng is bigger and taller than Dienkhlams. The Khnonng is most sacred.

On the first of last three days all tree – Dienkhlam are brought out from the jungle and placed at lawmusiang for a night. On the next day in the morning the Dienkhlam are taken in procession to the respective Dongs. The Khnonng should not be carried by those who are not settlers of Khon Raid. Men carrying and accompanying the Dienkhlams and the Khnong dance to the music of the drums and pipes.

Early in the morning of the third and last day of the festival another sacrifice is performed at the pool called the "Aitnar". A goat is sacrificed with prayer to God to protect the people from harms and injuries. The sacrifice over, the Daloi, the Priest, the Basans and some elder go round the town beating the roof of every house with bamboos sticks given to them by the priestess. The idea of beating the roof is to drive out evil and to bring peace and happiness to the family. The Dienkhlams are then let go from their upright position set up the previous day.

Towards noon the Rots are brought at Aitnar. The men dance in wild joy. The women and girls dressed in their best with ornaments from part of unlooker. Men are dancing in the pool. There is then splashing of water crying of joy, besmattering of mud no end of merriment. It is a scense of universal love and brotherhood.

The Rots are first immersed and destroyed. The Khon Raid then take leisurely the sacred tree (Khnong) to the spot very near Aitnar. The Khon Raid intentionally delay in taking the Khnong to Aitnar. The people in the other side are impatient. They wave their yearning hands for the Khnong. At long last the Khnong is brought to Aitnar. The people rush towards the Khnong to get foot hold on it. Though there is a big rush, there is no enmity and no fight. All the rush and scramble are taken by participants as part of worship.

By mid-afternoon the people disperse for the last ceremony in another part of the town near the D. C's Residence to take part in the "Dat la-wa-kor," the people in large number come to see the ceremony. The ceremony resembles a football game with a round piece of wood for a football. There are two opponents. The farmers of the paddy fields in the north on one side, The farmers of the paddy fields in the south on the other side. Only sturdy men take part in the game. It is believed that the winning side will be blessed with a rich harvest.

Thus the festival come to an end for one year. The joy and meriment continues for several day in the hearts of the people.

,Shad Suk Mynsiem

Shad Suk Mynsiem is a dance festival of the Khasi People. It is celebrated at Shillong every year generally during the Easter holidays. It is also celebrated in some other place of the Khasi Hills District. This is the happy thanks giving dance of Khasis. The word 'Shad Suk Mynsiem' means dance for peace of mind.

The dance festival held at Shillong is organised by the Seng Khasi. It is held annually in Shillong, the capital of Meghalaya at a beautiful spot called Weiking. This charming and beautiful spot is on the north-west end of Shillong on the left bank of the Wahumkhrach.

The dance is held for three days. There is a short dance performance on the first day. It is called, "Shad nohkjat". Shad noh kjat means a sort of an opening dance. On the following two days there is the full dance performance.

The dancers are both Male and female. Male dancers may be married, unmarried, young and old. Female dancers are only unmarried maidens. The female dancer dance in the inner circle. They moved their bare feet forward and backward in graceful movement. The male dancers dance around the circle of female dancers. They dance with steps that are move likely than those of the females. They wave all the time the flyflaps that they hold in their right hand. The dances (both male and female) regulate their steps with the music played by a band of pipers and drummers.

Dresses and ornaments of dancers are very costly. Very few people can buy such costly dresses and ornaments. The attractive part of ornaments worn by female dancer is the crown of solid gold or silver. The attractive parts of ornaments of male dancers are the silver arrows and the silver guiver. The arrows, swords and shield of male dancers remind us of our fore fathers who were ready to lay down their lives in guarding the honour, purity and dignity of their women folk.

These last two days are days of joy and merriment. The main roads and thoroughfares of Shillong are all alive. Running cars and throngs of people move and move on towards the dance site Weiking, the place of dancing, wears festive looks. The ground is decorated with Seng Khasi flags and buntings. The tea-sellers, food sellers, sweets sellers etc. do good business.

The dance comes to a close before sunset. For a few minutes the male dancers with swords in their hands perform the Warrior Dance called "Shad-mastieh". When the function of the day at the site is over the male dancers then leave the site in a body. All the way along the road to the Seng Khasi Hall the male dancers dance merrily followed by the band of pipers and drummers. The people who return from the dance site also join the happy procession. So the annual festival of the Khasi in Shillong come to and end.

A letter to your friends describing your own Village or the place you live in

Shillong

15.5.17

My dear Donkumar,

I thank you for your letter dated 10.5.71 I am delighted to know that you want me to write something about the place I live in.

You have heard about Shillong, the place where I was born. Shillong is my town. It is the capital of Meghalaya. It is also the headquarters of N.E.P.A. It is the seat of the Governor of Assam, Meghalaya and Nagaland.

Shillong is the hill resort. It is one of the most beautiful towns of India. It is surrounded by hills which are covered with thick, tall and ever green pine trees.

In an around Shillong there are lovely waterfalls. You can see the Beadon falls, the Bishop falls, the Elephant falls, the Spread - Eagle falls, the Sweet falls and the Crinoline falls.

In the heart of Shillong near the Governor's residence there is an artificial lake. Actually there is not one lake only but there are two or three lakes in the same spot. These lakes are known as Wards Lakes. There are flower gardens all around the lakes. A variety of flowers are grown there. There are flowers which bloom and shine through out the whole year. The lotus, the National flower of India, spreads its leaves majestically and blooms lovingly on the surface of water.

A zig zag path for people who take a stroll in the lakes is attractive. There is a wooden bridge over the lakes. A variety of fishes, big and small, are in the lakes. We try to catch them from a boat. People standing on the bridge have a pleasure to look at fishes of different colours. What a fun to see them jump and catch at edibles thrown in the water.

We have five colleges, many High Schools and a large number of M.E. and Primary School. Some of our colleges and High School are famous.

The busy centres of our town is the Barabazar and the Police Bazar. At these two place we are to be careful of cars, as they run very fast.

There are more than a lakh pesons who live in Shillong. There are Khasis, Bengalees, Assamese, Nepalcees, Mizos and others. As they are different kinds of people, so there are different kinds of religions. Here in our town you find the Roman Catholic Church, the Presbyterian Church, the Unitarian Church, the Ramakrishna Ashram, the Buddha temple, the Muslim Mosque.

Every evening we have the Rhythmn time programme from the AIR, Shillong. The Radio programme we like best is the Litterner's Choice.

Please let me know when you are visiting Shillong. My parent whould be happy to welcome you.

With love,

Sincerely yours,

U Wallambor.
